On Tuesday 24 September, Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra present an evening of vivid and enigmatic classical hits at Launceston Town Hall. Featuring works by Mendelssohn and Haydn, this concert showcases how beauty can be captured through music.

Influenced by a myriad of magical stories and stunning surroundings, Haydn and Mendelssohn succeeded in preserving beautiful images through orchestral works. From Mendelssohn's Shakespeare-inspired Midsummer Night's Dream Suite to Haydn's portrait of a sunrise in his Symphony No. 6 (commonly dubbed 'Le Matin' for this reason), this evening provides sights unseen through the work of a world-class orchestra.

This concert will be conducted by Marta Gardolińska, the BSO's Young Conductor in Association. Marta has been wowing audiences since she joined the Orchestra in September 2018, with Classical Source describing her as "highly promising and exciting conductor".

Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra will also be in Launceston on Sunday 22 September for its Cornwall Family Orchestra Day. Inclusivity is key and the Family Orchestra is open to everyone; all ages, instruments and any musical standard. From experienced musicians, to those who have just started on an instrument, or never played before, all are welcome.

2. Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra is a cultural beacon for the South and South West, existing to give people across the region of over 10,000 square miles the opportunity to experience and participate in great art. As one of the UK's busiest orchestras, the BSO reaches around 5,000 concert-goers per week and is the only UK symphony orchestra not based in a major city.
3. Since its founding in 1893, the BSO has been committed to bringing the highest quality of music to audiences around the world and making music more accessible for everyone. Last year, the BSO made history becoming the first orchestra in the world to form a professional disabled-led ensemble. Six months after the ensemble's creation, BSO Resound became the first disabled-led ensemble to ever perform at the BBC Proms.
4. A core part of the BSO's mission is its work beyond the concert hall. BSO Participate offers a diverse range of people across a myriad of communities the opportunity to experience the power of music, irrespective of circumstance. The BSO organises a variety of activities across the South and South West ranging from inspirational workshops in schools to special performances in care homes.
